Rupert spending up 1% rule upheld

RUPERT — Rupert City Council Tuesday night proposed 1971 budget of $819,100, an increase of one per cent over last year's expenditures of $811,278.95.

Last year's total budget was $811,000 but the full amount was not spent, Mayor Wendell Johnson said.

Public hearing on the proposed budget is scheduled for 8 p.m. March 31.

The proposed general fund total for this year's budget is $499,900.

Items under the general fund include administration, $11,000, compared to $18,500 budgeted last year; police department, $91,000, compared to $96,000 last year; fire department $11,000 and $10,000; street department, $71,000 and $30,200.

The mayor said the street department budget is lower this year because street improvement projects were completed last year. He said the police department's budget is down because of new police cars purchased last year.

Other items include sewer, $54,000, compared to $60,500 last year. This decrease is also because of improvement projects completed last year, the mayor said.

Parks, $28,000, compared to $30,000 last year; buildings and grounds, $7,600 and $10,300; irrigation, $32,000, and $28,200. The irrigation budget includes installation of new pipes this year, the mayor said.

Engineering, $20,000 and $19,000 last year; recreation, $30,000, compared to $28,200; garbage department, $46,500, and $42,500; electrical department, $312,000 and $265,500; water plant, $47,000, down from $60,500; sewer bond redemption, $16,000, same as last year; and library, $8,000 down from $8,500.

Reds pursue fleeing 1,000-man Viet force

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command called in B52 bombers today to try to halt a big Communist force chasing South Vietnamese troops from positions inside Laos. The Communists surrounded Fire Base Brown and heavily shelled Fire Base A Luoi near the South Vietnamese border.

Helicopter pilots said a force of more than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops from abandoned Firebase Lolo had fought their way through the jungles carrying their wounded in an effort to reach Firebase Brown but ran into Communist tanks which turned them toward A Luoi — itself under fire.

American pilots said the South Vietnamese hacked their way through the jungle and scrambled down a 1,000-foot cliff in their flight for safety. Helicopters evacuated some, but pilots said so many scrambled aboard the rescue craft the GIs had to shove them off before the choppers could take off.

Firebase Lolo was nine miles southeast of the Ho Chi Minh Trail junction of Sepone, since recaptured by the North Vietnamese. A Luoi is 11 miles inside Laos along Route 9. Brown is 6½ miles east of Lolo.

A Luoi and Brown are within the protective range of American artillery just inside the South Vietnamese border, but military sources in Saigon said B52s were called in today to try to stop the Communist advance by units estimated earlier at up to a full division.

U.S. Army helicopter pilot

WO Fred Few, 22, of Chattanooga, Tenn., said about 700 troops from Lolo had been flown to safety despite intense antiaircraft fire and that Firebase Brown was ringed by Communist ground forces and that tanks had moved down from the Sepone area.

"Brown is as bad as Lolo," Few said. "They probably will evacuate Brown soon."

Official spokesmen reported that Firebase A Luoi was hit by 300 mortar and rocket rounds from North Vietnamese gunners today and that U.S. fighter-bombers aiding the defenders killed 80 Communists in raids within one mile of the base.

UAR welcomes Suez position

By United Press International

Egyptian political sources today welcomed Secretary of State William P. Rogers' call for Israel's return to the 1967 pre-war borders, but took exception to suggestions the Sinai be demilitarized in an eventual peace settlement.

Israeli officials withheld comment on Rogers' statement at a news conference in Washington Tuesday. Rogers warned that failure to reach a settlement now of the Arab-Israeli conflict could possibly set the stage for World War III.

Mrs. Meir also repeated Israel's opposition to an international peacekeeping force as a substitute for secure and guaranteed borders. And she said "Israel will accept no dictates from any party."

Rogers had told the news conference that "it is not necessary to acquire territory for provisions of security" and raised the possibility of an international peacekeeping force with troops from the United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and some small nations.

But Prime Minister Golda

Meir, a few hours earlier, told the Knesset (Parliament) in Jerusalem that Israel would never return to the borders of June 4, 1967 — the day before the six day war began. She reiterated Israel would not pull out of Egypt's Sharm el-Sheikh, Syria's Golan Heights, Jordan's east Jerusalem or away from the Jordan River.

GOP leaders praise Dewey

By United Press International

Thomas E. Dewey was a "true leader of men," Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Tuesday when he learned of his death. Mayor John V. Lindsay, of New York called him "a great leader" and "an old friend."

"During all the time I spent with him, I never knew him to be unkind or impatient," Scott said in announcing the death to the Senate.

"He had a complete understanding of the people he worked with ... he deserved the good will of the Republicans," said Scott, who was GOP national chairman when Dewey lost his second presidential race in 1948. "He was a true leader of men."

"The sudden death today of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey deeply distresses me. I have lost an old friend. And the presidency ... The American people never got a view of him as the effective, historic person he was," Javits said.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the GOP national chairman, said he was shocked to learn of the death. "Though never president, he provided courageous leadership for the Republican party for many years, while at the same time never failing to place his nation's good in war or peace ahead of his own political ambitions," he said.

"His passing is a great loss to all Americans," Dole said.

County cleanup slated

TWIN FALLS — County officials are planning another countywide spring cleanup day similar to one last year which resulted in the removal of tons of trash and junk, commission Chairman W. L. Chancey said.

A meeting for preliminary organization will be March 31 at 8 p.m. in the county judicial building, Chancey said.

Officials of the Bureau of Land Management, through the Johnny Horizon program, are cooperating in the program again this year.

Chancey said an invitation is out to all organizations willing to assist in the project or interested in helping beautify the county.

Manpower, Boy Scout power and 4-H Club power will be utilized again this year, Chancey said. Plans are being made to close the work day with a picnic lunch at the Filer fairgrounds.

Last year about 300 persons assisted in the program.

gathering trash by hand from along highways and roadsides, operating tow trucks to remove old car bodies, loading heavy debris in trucks and hauling it to county dumpgrounds.

Chancey said fair weather reveals quantities of trash and debris which has been discarded during the winter by motorists and home owners. It is the plan of the county to clear this away and to make Twin Falls County one of the most beautiful and cleanest in the state.

Moulton says gas tax shift may change Idaho aviation

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER

Times-News Editor

TWIN FALLS — A plan to divert one-half the tax revenue from aviation fuel for use by scheduled airports of Idaho may prove to be detrimental and would change "aviation as we know it in Idaho."

Chet Moulton, Idaho's director of aeronautics, said he was disappointed the new legislation would probably clear the Senate, after having been passed by the House, and would probably be signed by the governor.

He commented on Idaho's aviation future during an interview which preceded the pilots' award dinner at the Holiday Inn Tuesday evening.

The new legislation, if it becomes law, would greatly curtail projects on smaller airports in favor of those for the air carrier fields like Boise, Lewiston, Pocatello, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls, the state executive said.

"Only history will tell if the move is right but improvement of secondary airports will just have to be curtailed," he said. He pointed out 107 airports in Idaho have been constructed or aided by funds through the department in the past 25 years.

He indicated the "airstrip in a day" construction with department funds — sometimes as little as $500 — and volunteer labor may be on the way out in the state.

At the dinner with more than 160 attending, Moulton said new federal tax laws levied on general (private) aviation is bringing in some $540 million a year. Two attempts have been made by federal sources to "raid" this dedicated fund.

Moulton said several big projects have been studied but that "dollar number one is still to be spent" although the millions have been assessed and collected.

Nationally, if this dedicated program can be "set right," he envisioned "the seventies as the biggest milestone in airport decisions this world has ever known."

In presenting awards to Magic Valley pilots for accident-free years of flying he praised them as "people who set a fine example."

At the session some 120 fliers received awards running from a period of one year to that of 33 years.

The safe flying award winners include:

One year: Kendall R. Bingham, Jack S. Taylor and Alvin Tamble, all Burley; Jerry and Edna Hansen, all Gooding; Carol Cook, Dale Dahlberg and Howard E. Hite, all Jerome; Peter Dellis, Paul, E. Ray Ivie, Rupert; Jerry W.

Delegate selection plan hit

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's chief deputy attorney general wrote Tuesday that the method of selecting delegates to state political party conventions in the state is unconstitutional.

Clarence Sauter, in a letter written to Gov. Cecil Andrus, wrote there was a large disparity in the representation of Idaho citizens at state political conventions.

He noted that in Ada County, political party chairmen which represent some 12,000 residents, have the same power as the county chairmen from Shoshone County which has a population of only 19,000.

Sauter wrote, "Should the Idaho system of sending delegates to state and national conventions be tested in federal court?"

Moulton says gas tax shift may change Idaho aviation

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER

Times-News Editor

TWIN FALLS — A plan to divert one-half the tax revenue from aviation fuel for use by scheduled airports of Idaho may prove to be detrimental and would change "aviation as we know it in Idaho."

Chet Moulton, Idaho's director of aeronautics, said he was disappointed the new legislation would probably clear the Senate, after having been passed by the House, and would probably be signed by the governor.

He commented on Idaho's aviation future during an interview which preceded the pilots' award dinner at the Holiday Inn Tuesday evening.

The new legislation, if it becomes law, would greatly curtail projects on smaller airports in favor of those for the air carrier fields like Boise, Lewiston, Pocatello, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls, the state executive said.

"Only history will tell if the move is right but improvement of secondary airports will just have to be curtailed," he said. He pointed out 107 airports in Idaho have been constructed or aided by funds through the department in the past 25 years.

He indicated the "airstrip in a day" construction with department funds — sometimes as little as $500 — and volunteer labor may be on the way out in the state.

At the dinner with more than 160 attending, Moulton said new federal tax laws levied on general (private) aviation is bringing in some $540 million a year. Two attempts have been made by federal sources to "raid" this dedicated fund.

Moulton said several big projects have been studied but that "dollar number one is still to be spent" although the millions have been assessed and collected.

Nationally, if this dedicated program can be "set right," he envisioned "the seventies as the biggest milestone in airport decisions this world has ever known."

In presenting awards to Magic Valley pilots for accident-free years of flying he praised them as "people who set a fine example."

At the session some 120 fliers received awards running from a period of one year to that of 33 years.

The safe flying award winners include:

One year: Kendall R. Bingham, Jack S. Taylor and Alvin Tamble, all Burley; Jerry and Edna Hansen, all Gooding; Carol Cook, Dale Dahlberg and Howard E. Hite, all Jerome; Peter Dellis, Paul, E. Ray Ivie, Rupert; Jerry W.

Blades, William H. Hughes, John H. Killen, Ralph E. Olmstead, Thomas Olmstead and Paul T. Smith, all Twin Falls.

Two year: Carl E. Richardson, Albion; Gary Asson, Max S. Banner, Ormond F. Burch, C. Hayden Ellington, O'Neill D. Farnsworth, John G. Gandy, John G. James, T. Jones, Edna, Roger D. Vincent, Eller, William E. Bolton and William B. Gilligan, both Hailey; Emile Hansen, Jerold Arthur and Lester A. Hansen, all Jerome; Hansen, John T. Pease, Rupert; Larry D. Anderson, Don C. Beopple, Russell A. Cetterson, Daniel H. Olmstead, Richard M. Showell, Ruth E. Stutzman and Larry C. Wright, all Twin Falls.

Three year: Ralph M. Mitchell, Burley.

The Squeeze

American consumers are buying shirts made in Japan, Korea and Hong Kong for the simple reason that they are available at much less cost than comparable American-made products. The same applies to other textiles and that is the crux of the tough negotiations with Japan to adopt voluntary quotas or face import limitations.

The Japan Textile Federation, representing all major groups, stated March 8 it would voluntarily restrict imports to the United States for a three-year period beginning July 1. Its aim is to stop the drive for trade quota legislation in Congress.

But similar restrictions would have to be adopted by Hong Kong, Taiwan and Korea before the Japanese would begin their limitations. These exporters are Japan's major competitors in the world's textile markets, especially the United States, and Japan would suffer without that safeguard. European imports are not a competitive factor.

While the Japanese proposal is no great concession, being based on a 1970 base with a five per cent increase during the first year and a six per cent increase in the second and third years, it does represent the first break in the protracted negotiations.

The administration withheld comment pending further study of the proposal but the Textile Workers Union of America urged its rejection as "a travesty."

Wages in the Orient are far below American standards. That is why the American manufacturers and unions term that competition unfair. Yet, members of American unions snap up those bargains. American jobs are at stake and that is why the union wants greater protection, which would have to be greater and yet greater as inflation, fed by wage boosts, makes American products less and less competitive.

It's the old story of pricing goods out of the market. Eating one's cake and having it, too, is an impossibility; yet the delusion persists that government somehow can do the impossible by erecting trade limitations and tariff walls.

It can't be done, except at unsupportable cost to all Americans and that includes the unions.

America Imprint

"No immigrant group encountered higher walls of prejudice and discrimination than did the Japanese — the denial on racist grounds of the right to naturalization, the denial in the areas where they largely lived of the right to own land or enter certain professions, and eventually complete exclusion."

"None experienced a more dramatic crisis than they did when, on the outbreak of war with Japan, 100,000 of them — aged immigrants and their assertively loyal American-born children alike — were herded from the West Coast into what amounted to concentration camps."

"None retained greater faith in the basic ideals of America or showed stronger determination to establish their rights to full equality and justice, even when their fellow Americans seemed determined to deny them both. The outcome, of course, has been the great American success story, writ large — a Horatio Alger on an ethnic scale."

The words are those of Edwin O. Reischauer, former U.S. Ambassador to Japan, in the introduction to a new book called "Nisei." Written by Bill Hosokawa, the book is an account of the dramatic but little-known history of the Japanese in this country.

Although they constitute less than half-of-one per cent of the population, Japanese-Americans today provide one senator and two congressmen in Washington and have distinguished themselves in almost every major field of endeavor.

It's Spring

Spring, the most important development of the year, is anticipated, indefinite in its advent and entirely unreliable as a fact until it has grown beyond its merited appreciation. Logically, it is the beginning of the year, considering years as installments of life.

To start the year with winter suggests beginning to live at the end. Thus spring serves supremely to enable man to get his bearings and to realize the meaning of his existence. It is nature's kindliest service to man.

Spring is new. Everyone is stirred by recollection of good that has been lived.

Spring is the time for colds because people just don't have sense enough to wear enough clothing when the breezes shoot across the Magic Valley land.

Spring is the time to go in debt for new cars, trailers, trucks, bicycles, boats and campers. It is the time of year to get ready to go.

It is the time of year to get the ground ready for those flower beds so you will not be able to go anywhere, any weekend.

It is the time — well, you know what time it is. Spring starts on March 21 so we thought we would just let you know a few days early so you can get a jump on it. That was Mr. Spectator's idea all along and he composed today's column.

NOT MUCH
Mr. Spectator would hasten to point out that he didn't have much get up and go; because when he died he was living with the same wife he started out with.

HELP ASKED

Dear Mr. Spectator:
I am seeking information about the late Al Tiddiken of Twin Falls for my research of the history of Carter County, Montana. Is such information available to you?

Doug Engebretson
Box 172
Hulett, Wyoming, 82720

Mr. Spectator would ask that if any of you readers have any knowledge of Al Tiddiken then you should drop a line to Mr. Engebretson, at the Wyoming address listed above.

HAIL COLUMBIA!

Dear Mr. Spectator:
The sky is falling! The sky is falling! Or so say the hippies.

Did you see in a recent Times-News that the new student body proxy at Idaho State University is a Twin Falls fella — that doesn't even have a beard? And his hair (goodness me!) doesn't even come anywhere near his shoulders.

Could this be the beginning of a movement to sanity and decency? What's coming off here beside the beard?

Lunch With George McGovern

WASHINGTON — Lunch with George McGovern, who is running for President on not much more than a wing and a prayer, reminds his companion of the late Heywood Broun's definition of an agitator — "the person who insists, sometimes with violence, that the world as it stands is not good enough."

Except that the Senator from South Dakota wouldn't hurt a flea, Broun's words describe him down to the last crossed T. McGovern is vigorously dissatisfied with the status quo. He believes Americans are capable of better things, of a higher life style, and he wants to help us prove it. That is the Raison D'ETRE for his candidacy, although it would be both naive and unfair to McGovern's political competence to overlook personal ambition.

So far, McGovern has suffered from the self-imposed handicap of being a one-issue candidate. ("Well," he says, "the Vietnam War is a pretty big issue.") Now, however, he intends to broaden his platform, with special attention to the state of the economy and the urgent need for government action against unemployment. He promises to take a new — and perhaps harder — look at it stands is not good enough."

Not surprisingly for a man who deplores the massive cost of maintaining the military

wants to divert Federal money to create more employment. He is an ardent advocate of the doctrine that Washington should finance the creation of public service jobs.

One project offers an example of his thinking. He cites official figures to show that $12-billion is needed to construct adequate sewage and water facilities in rural communities of 5,500 or less population whose accommodations are now "medieval." Such a vast construction program, he says, would encourage industry to move out of crowded urban areas into the country and persuade employees to move with it. He sees the project as simultaneously benefiting both our hard-pressed cities and our deprived rural sections.

On crime, McGovern still tends to hew to the liberals' philosophical line that the need is to get at crime's root causes.

When his interviewer expressed impatience at this position, he admitted that perhaps he had been inattentive to the need for emergency efforts to restore safety to the streets.

In fact, with his impeccable liberal credentials, McGovern is one of the few national Democrats who could endorse a hard line on crime and get away with it. But he has got to put it in writing if he hopes to enlarge a constituency now too tightly composed of the young and the liberal left. He should not have to be reminded that Main Street's square vote, too.

Meanwhile, on the economic front he endorses the proposal of Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., that wage and price controls be imposed for a six-month period in the hope business and labor would embrace policies to fight inflation. "The controls should have been imposed in 1965 when Lyndon Johnson widened the Vietnam War," he says. "But it's not too late to do it now."

For the most part, however, McGovern's candidacy is that of a man who feels the people are looking for someone they can trust. Somehow, given his quiet humility, it does not sound seriously immodest when he suggests he is that someone. After all, it is hard to suspect a politician who insists upon saying so many unpopular things simply because he believes they must be said. There is also the fact that while his enemies might quarrel with him or even dismiss his candidacy as frivolous, they never question his integrity.

In that context, McGovern was paid a form of tribute when Sen. Strom Thurmond, who is eight miles to the right of the South Dakotan, came over and asked McGovern to meet the South Carolinian's guests. People DO like and respect George McGovern.

This could be his downfall. He may be too nice a guy to aspire to a job whose terrible duties require a touch of the SOB. Despite his World War II record of flying 55 bomber missions, this son of a preacher remains a man of uncommon gentleness. There is, of course, a hint in his sometimes jarring outspokenness of an inner toughness. If George McGovern is going to get off the ground, that hint will have to become a reality.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Tetany

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our infant son, a seemingly healthy, beautiful baby, passed out twice and almost stopped breathing.

If I hadn't been in the habit of checking him every 20 minutes or so, I dread to think of the outcome.

At the hospital all I was told was that he had "tetany of the newborn," which involves lack of calcium, to give him a special calcium preparation, and to have his urine tested now and then.

I didn't think it was too serious until I learned through an acquaintance that this disease can be fatal and part of the "crib death" syndrome. Since then my sleep has been affected and I find myself getting up every few minutes to see that he is okay.

Will you explain about this disease? There is nothing I could find in baby books. — Mrs. G.P.

This is not a common disorder but it can be serious. Tetany (meaning muscular spasms) is due to a low calcium content in the baby's blood, resulting in twitches and convulsions.

Basically, calcium metabolism is controlled by the parathyroid glands. In early infancy these glands may not have reached full function — hence the baby does not properly utilize the calcium in his food.

This usually occurs (if at all) in the first month, or even in the first week or two.

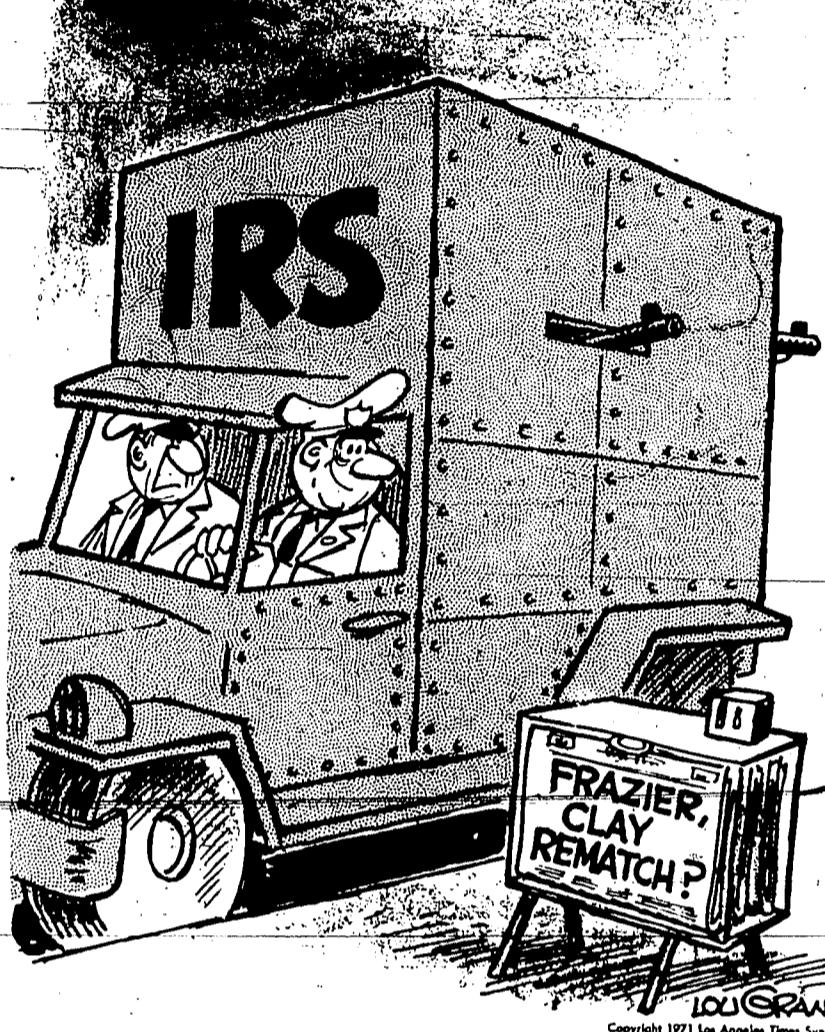

Treatment is administration of calcium, sometimes given intravenously, sometimes in the baby's formula. After a few weeks of such treatment, when the little tyke's glandular apparatus has caught its stride and he is eating more, the symptoms subside.

Convulsions in such tiny babies are, certainly, frightening, but by the time you see this answer, I am sure that things will have adjusted themselves and your mind will be Hemorrhoids can be cured! Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Golfers

There's a new "golden boy" in the world of sports. With the emergence of fair-haired, clean-living, happily married Tom Shaw the evolution of the professional golfer is complete.

The first touring professional golfers were not really professionals. Some were country club pros but even for them the tour was more a vacation than a vocation.

Most participants came up from the ranks of caddies. Even for a consistent winner, there were not enough tournaments to keep him fed.

Club pros made a meager living; the tour attracted a motley assortment of mostly golf bums.

That is not to say that all were amoral, profane, hard-drinking womanizers — but many, if not most, were.

Prize winners would share prize money with the less-lucky to keep the traveling circus from erosion by starvation.

Gradually the cream came to the top.

With increasing prizes and increasing competition, there emerged a stellar handful of disciplined athletes: Snead, Hogan, Nelson.

With TV and the big prize money, and ever closer scrutiny by the PGA, the evolution was accelerated. It is to the eternal credit of that Professional Golfers Assn. that — despite inevitable, uncontrollable professional gambling on the big-bloody tournaments — the participants have remained untainted, the events scandal-free.

Now, what began among amateurs as a gentleman's game has become mostly that again. At the same time, corporations of significance have been established in the names of the new heroes.

Interestingly, the men whose consistency made them millionaires also were otherwise exemplary. Gary Player, Billy Casper, Dave Stockton — each a testifying Christian sharing his earnings more than generously with his respective church — and golf-related charities.

Jack Nicklaus' conscientious dieting and discipline inspired younger athletes.

Arnold Palmer, a few years engrossed in the world of big business and related cocktail parties, found it didn't pay.

After he endured 1970 without one tournament championship, he stopped both smoking and drinking, started paying attention, and has begun his charge toward the top again.

Most of today's touring pros are college — taught, both academically and athletically. Each season fewer "swingers" survive the cuts.

Most of today's touring pros are college — taught, both academically and athletically. Each season fewer "swingers" survive the cuts.

Not all that the world calls progress is; this was.

And now, with two tournament championships in the first two months of this young year, handsome, young Tom Shaw and his delightfully wholesome bride are emerging as new examples worthy of emulation. They share interests in health foods and healthful habits; they jog together.

And the some of us who remember the ripsnorting twenties and thirties and the short-lived legion who made an easy living the hard way watch with respect and admiration the emergence of the new breed.

Not all that the world calls progress is; this was.

Such is Twin Falls City, the result of one of several great irrigation enterprises projected or underway in Idaho. This one covers 270,000 acres of fine agriculture and fruit land surrounding one of the sonic spots of the continent, with Shoshone and Twin Falls, and the Snake River with water powers surpassing in numbers and amount of power that of any equal area on the continent, and with all a climate the most healthful and invigorating, we say who cannot foresee a future for Idaho brighter than the dreams of contentment?

The branch of the Oregon Short Line now heading for what is to be the metropolis of this splendid district, will probably be extended to connect with the main line further west. What a difference that will make in the impressions of southern Idaho which travelers will receive in coming through

BERRY'S WORLD

"O'Neill, today is just like any other day around here — not out of that ridiculous costume!"

Senate approves street aid

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved 33-3 and sent to the governor today a House bill giving cities one-seventh of the revenue from state taxes on gasoline which would give the cities an increase of more than $3.8 million.

Sen. Wayne Kitwell, R-Boise, who steered the measure to his passage said cities are now receiving only 4% per cent of the highway users' revenues, but said 64 per cent of the population in the state lives within city limits.

He also opposed any efforts to remove cities from distribution of the other six cents in gasoline taxes.

"Who is kidding who?" he asked. "The people who live in the cities contribute to this fund. They pay the most into it."

The final vote came just minutes after the chamber voted 11-24 not to place the measure in the amending order. Sen. Reed Budge, R-Grandview, voted against the final measure.

The one-cent tax will give cities an additional $3.8 million to be used for city street contend the period for the new formula to begin from July 1 to Jan. 1, 1972.

But Sen. Darrell Manning, D-Pocatello, opposed the move to amend the bill and said any amendment would be "pretty much of an attempt to place this bill behind us for this session."

"We don't want to pave the city streets with gold," Manning said. "We just want to pave them."

"We'll be happy with asphalt or in some cases gravel."

Only Budge and Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grandview, voted against the final measure.

The one-cent tax will give cities an additional $3.8 million to be used for city street construction and maintenance. The bill would take some $2.7 million from the highway department since the distribution formula would utilize only six instead of the usual seven cents.

Under the present formula, cities receive approximately $1.7 million, counties $12 million, and the highway department approximately $29 million.

Under the new formula, cities would receive approximately $3.5 million, counties $11.5 million, and the state highway department some $27 million.

Senators confirm choices

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate confirmed appointments Tuesday of Dr. J.P. Munson, Sandpoint, to the State Board of Education and Dr. Weston J. Peterson, Rexburg, to the State Board of Health.

Munson replaces Elvin Hampton, Genesee, and Peterson replaces Fran Blomquist, Caldwell.

Sen. James Stolteff, D-Sandpoint, floor sponsor for Munson, said the physician has been a school board member and chairman of the Department of Education's task force on education.

Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, floor sponsor for Peterson, said the appointment of Peterson to a five-year term on the Health Board was a "real wise choice."

All the automakers plan to install catalytic devices on 1975 cars in an attempt to meet the new standards. As of now, however, they still don't think the cars can meet them with the catalysts available.

Moreover, the problems for catalyst is a "noble" metal, platinum, which today costs $150 to $300 an ounce. Cheaper catalysts such as copper, manganese, nickel and chromium break down quickly under the high heat at which they'd have to operate. They also are poisoned and rendered ineffective by even minute amounts of sulphur in gasoline.

Auto costs seen zooming

DETROIT (UPI) — Some top men in the automobile business are growing more and more concerned about the increasing costs of safety and pollution control equipment being required by government regulation on cars.

They fear that stiffening requirements for some benefits they consider questionable could price new cars right out of the market. There's even talk of a subcompact minicar costing as much as $3,500.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Have you any words of comfort or advice for a woman who is the same age as her husband but is often mistaken for his mother?

That is my problem. My husband always has been extremely young-looking for his age. He has a trim athletic build, a full head of hair and a boyish grin.

I am naturally big-boned and have always had a weight problem. I'm a good cook and I love to eat! My hair started to turn gray when I was in my late 20s, but friends say it's "becoming."

I have to dress matronly because they don't make smart youthful dresses in my size.

When my husband is with our 18-year-old daughter everyone thinks he is her "date." When he is with me they think he is with his mother. What can I do besides feel sorry for myself?

ROCK OF AGES

DEAR ROCK: Enlist the help of TOPS, Weight-Watchers, or your friendly family physician plus the local health club, and get your figure down to where it should be. For every 20 pounds you lose you will look 10 years younger! And quit apologizing for your "matronly" wardrobe. If you can't find smart, youthful styles in your size, make some. Now, about your hair, Lady. Gray hair may be "becoming" — but it's not "youthful." Don't wait until Monday to begin the self-improvement program. It's later than you think. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Something has been griping me for several months and I have decided to get it off my chest. My son and daughter in law live out of town, and they have an adorable family. The kiddies call me "Grandma" which I love, but I do not like it at all when my daughter in law calls me "Grandma." This I have told her several times, but she pays no attention.

I visited them over the Christmas holidays and before putting up the stockings on the fireplace my daughter in law asked me what she should put on my stocking. I said, "Put 'Mother' on it; it's my son's house and I am his mother."

So she said, "Well, it's also my house, and you are not my mother!" So I told her to just leave my stocking blank. And that is what she did. I felt very hurt. So how does a mother in law cope with a girl like that? MOTHER IN LAW

DEAR MOTHER IN LAW: It's not easy. But you must dislike your daughter in law for other reasons than what she calls you. Think it over.

Repair man finds God when trapped in sewer

By JACK D. ROBERTS

St. Paul, Minn. — The sun hadn't yet risen on that cold Sunday morning in December, 1957, when I set out in the cable truck through the deserted streets of Kansas City. I was employed by the city water department, working on the emergency crew. An emergency in the water department can be anything from a broken main to a dead animal; this morning's job was what we called a "set emergency," one in which a repair can be timed to cause as little inconvenience as possible.

Sunday morning was often picked for such work, being a time when water demand was down. And since I wasn't a churchgoer, I was usually given the job.

My feelings about religion were pretty well known in the department: At age 26, I was out for the best time I could have. I figured there'd be plenty of time later to worry about my soul.

The emergency this Sunday morning was a leak in a water pipe supplying a hospital. Built-up pressure was causing the trouble; while the foreman and his crew repaired the actual leak a block away, my job would be to replace the small bleeder relief valve on this line with a larger, more efficient one, so we wouldn't have trouble like this in the future.

My helper, Jim, and I first went to the main valve shut-off on that block. Since shutting off the water would deprive a hospital, we decided to close the valve only half way.

Changing the bleeder valve should take only a few minutes, not long enough for the half-pressure water to cause any trouble, and meanwhile the hospital would have enough for emergencies.

It took all our combined strength to turn the big valve 50 times — half-way off. What we didn't know was that the threads on the main cut-off valve were badly worn and that actually we hadn't reduced the pressure at all. Jim maneuvered the truck up to the manhole which I'd have to enter to get to the bleeder valve. I was going to do the actual switching of valves down in the hole. Jim's job would be to hook the big new valve onto the winch behind the truck and lower it into the hole when I was ready for it.

I eased myself through the manhole opening and worked my way over the side of the big pipe. There was only a cramped little chamber down there, and the pipe filled most of it — with barely three feet between it and the street above, and hardly any room on either side.

Squeezed between the pipe and the wall, I loosened the screws that held the bleeder valve in place. There was no danger, I thought, with the water at half-pressure, but I wouldn't remove the old valve entirely until I was ready to fit on the new one.

I shouted to Jim to lower it into the hole. That was something of a project, as the new valve was 34 inches in diameter, only two inches smaller than the manhole opening itself, and weighed 150 pounds.

I heard the crane creak into action. The big valve loomed suddenly above my head, blotting out the gray predawn sky. Halfway down, the creaking stopped. The electric crane had quit operating, its battery gone dead, leaving the big valve blocking the opening.

I heard Jim's footsteps above my head, pounding away up the street. He was going for the foreman clear in the next block — leaving me stuck up in this black pocket. Suddenly another sound drove every other thought from my head.

In an explosion of air and water, the loosened valve blew off the pipe in front of me. In the moment, I pushed against that valve.

"Lord, God," I cried, "help me!"

And with that, I pushed again. Don't ask me how, but I lifted that valve. I lifted it straight up, with one hand, up and out of that hole. Just heaved it out and over to the side, and it didn't seem to have any weight at all.

I stood on the pipe with my head sticking out the manhole opening, gulping the knife-cold air until the rising water lifted me up and into the street.

Dazed and weak, I was still lying in the street when Jim and the foreman ran up. They shouted questions at me, but I didn't answer. I was busy with questions of my own.

I was asking myself about all those good times and all those years I'd been so sure I had coming. I was asking what would have happened if God had kept me waiting when I called, as I'd kept Him waiting.

Tentative 1971 Burley spending levels aired

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Staff Writer

BURLEY — The Burley City Council released Tuesday its tentative budget for 1971 with only a slight increase of 1.4 per cent above last year's spending.

The tentative budget of $1.95 million will be formally approved following a public hearing March 29.

Despite the overall increase for 1971, the city's general fund budget reflects a 4.6 per cent decline from last year's spending.

Budgeted spending for 1971 compared to budgeted amounts for last year are:

The library fund this year is $14,500 the same as last year. Partial retirement of tax notes is $30,000 compared to $40,000 last year. Local Improvement District No. 17 has $13,000 and this was not in last year's budget.

Electric fund has $791,075.98, compared to $699,588.03 budgeted last year. Water department this year is $276,946.21 compared to $268,916.75 last year.

The airport this year is $17,036.82 compared to $32,977 last year. Cemetery this year is $19,980.27, compared to $20,228.17 last year.

Fire department $57,772.77, to $53,036.64 a year ago. Police department has $202,072.62, compared to $173,469.36 last year.

Sanitation $97,072 compared to $101,144.94 last year. Street department is $158,541.50 compared to $145,286.73 a year ago.

Parks, recreation and golf has $82,566.09 compared to $48,046 a year ago.

Wages in the electric department were discussed prior to the proposed budget approval. An increase in wages from $10 to $20 was agreed upon to be added to the proposed budget.

John Christian, electrical superintendent, reported that the electrical department may lose several men if more money isn't provided for wages increase.

The electrical department was adjusted by $900 to include wage increases.

The councilmen said they had made progress to pay on the $130,000 in bills they say they inherited from the previous administration.

Gene Sorenson, of Grandview addition, met with the council and requested permission for 11 residents to hook onto the city sewer system. After a discussion, the matter was tabled until the legal aspect of the matter could be studied.

Overland Shopping Center was granted permission to have a carnival in its parking lot.

Elks Lodge was permitted to build a covered patio with cement floor, a barbecue pit at the Golf Course Park.

Councilmen approved repair of city jail cells.

Hired Wayne Davis, for summer months, engineering department, at $450 per month.

Approved a code of ethics for city employees.

Hagerman pupils dismissed

HAGERMAN — Elementary students in Hagerman were dismissed from school today because of a power failure caused by a tree which blew over onto power lines.

Jim Johnstone of the Idaho Power office in Twin Falls said power was interrupted at the school about 4:30 a.m. Wednesday and was expected to be restored later in the day.

Cold, windy weather accompanied by snow showers was the general weather picture all over Magic Valley, except at Fairfield, where a light wind was blowing, but the sun was shining Wednesday morning. About two inches of new snow fell at Fairfield Tuesday night.

At Hollister Idaho State Police at the port of entry were restricting wide load travel through that area because of blowing and drifting. At the Cotterel Port of Entry in Cassia County traffic was being held up because of low visibility from drifting.

Johnstone said a few local outages had occurred in Magic Valley because of weather conditions, but in all cases, except at the Hagerman school, power was restored within minutes. He said arcing lines in the Hagerman and Artesian areas had caused some minor problems.

100 attend Burley meet

BURLEY — More than 100 irrigation operator's representing canal company and irrigation districts in all parts of Magic Valley met today in the Ponderosa Inn for a day-long irrigator-operators workshop.

The meet is sponsored by the Idaho Reclamation Assn., University of Idaho Cooperative Assn. Service, Bureau of Reclamation, Idaho Department of Water Administration, Soil Conservation Service and area canal companies and irrigation districts.

Sessions were to continue throughout the day with the first conducted by Carlos Randolph, Boise, irrigation operations branch, Bureau of Reclamation on the subject "Why We Measure Water."

Other session speakers during the day included R. Keith Higginson, Boise, Idaho Department of Water Administration, "Aspects of Irrigation Organization and Management"; Dorrell Larsen, Boise, extension irrigationist, University of Idaho, "Art of Measuring Water"; Meader Wilkins, Boise, state conservation engineer, SCS, "Planning, The Key to Efficient Water Delivery," and Barnett, Boise, "Public Relations and You."

Afternoon sessions were scheduled to include a panel discussion on "What I Expect of Ditchriders", with speakers Al Peters, Twin Falls Canal Co.; Russell Wooley, Jerome, North Side Canal Co. director; LaMar Andeson, Twin Falls, ditchriders, Salmon River Canal Co., and Jim Brooks, Shoshone, water user of the Big Wood Canal Co.

Burdell Curtis, Burley irrigation district; Virgil Temple, Minidoka district, and Ted Diehl, Jerome, are in charge of the workshop.

Suit eyes spray's damages

TWIN FALLS — Suit to recover more than $90,000 in damages allegedly caused by negligence and carelessness in applying aerial spray has been filed in Fifth Judicial District Court here against Reeder Flying Service.

The suit was filed by Delbert Clampitt and Hoodoo Farms, Inc., against Reeder Flying Service Inc., as a result of a spray application in May of 1970.

The complaint charges Clampitt hired the flying service to apply 24-D chemical to 1,540 acres of wheat in May of 1970. Due to carelessness in application, the complaint charges, the chemical was allowed to drift onto an adjoining field of sugar beets.

As a result, the plaintiff alleges the 499 acres of sugar beets were damaged to cause a loss of 5,000 tons of production. Clampitt asks $86,250 in damage to the sugar beet crop and $4,740 in other additional costs and damages.

Hansen OKs consultants for well

HANSEN — Directors of the Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement Assn. have approved retaining the consulting engineering firm of Richard and Straubner, Twin Falls, for engineering and inspection work for new installations on the city well.

The firm with Jack Straubner as acting engineer will retain 10 per cent of the total cost of the installation.

Work involved includes engineering and inspection for installation of a pump and control, chlorinator and backwash for the well. The well will be drilled to a depth of 1,000 feet.

In recent months, the city has been faced with a water shortage due to a lack of rain.

PROMISE of better weather to come once spring arrives is offered by brilliant sunset glowing through broken clouds above Magic Valley. However, winter still grips the region, and a sheet of ice and half an inch or more of snow blanketed southern Idaho today. Stiff winds put a sharp edge on subfreezing temperatures, adding to the bite. (UPI)

Educators to study computers

BURLEY — Magic Valley school superintendents, principals and trustees began arriving today in Burley for a two-day meeting on the use of computer data in education.

The meeting began this afternoon at the Ramada Inn and is sponsored by the School Superintendents Assn. of Magic Valley and the faculty in educational administration in the department of professional preparation at Idaho State University, College of Education.

Directing the meeting, called management information systems for decision-making, is Dr. Lee Wicklund, principal of Loren Hendricks Laboratory School at ISU.

Presently the airline is operating with a two-plane schedule with one plane held in reserve for charter flights.

All airlines are in trouble financially, Ross said. There is little traffic from Burley to Pocatello and Idaho Falls, but traffic is good from Burley, Boise and Salt Lake City, he said.

Dr. Wicklund said some of the speakers will be from Alaska, Colorado, Oregon, Utah and Idaho.

Roads shut

SHOSHONE — Idaho Highway Department officials said today that Highways 83A, 20 and 26 through the Craters of the Moon have been closed because of low visibility from drifting snow.

Horizontal drilling examined

BLISS — A demonstration of a horizontal drill used to bore into the face of a hill or cliff to enlarge water supplies will be sponsored by the Bureau of Land Management.

Driller Harry Denton, Twin Falls, will demonstrate the use of the horizontal drill, according to Mike Green, BLM spokesman.

Green said interested persons will meet at the Y-Inn in Bliss at 10 a.m. Thursday for the demonstration.

Green said the drill is particularly useful in development of water seepages or springs for production of water.

Fire guts

Oakley home

OAKLEY — Two-story brick home owned by Allen, Ward and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lopez, was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon.

Fire Chief Arlo Garrard said the Lopexes were working outside when an oil stove in the living room exploded. The force of the explosion blew out the windows on the ground floor.

The house was one of the oldest structures in Oakley and was not covered by insurance, Garrard said.

The couple and their children were staying with relatives Wednesday until they could find other living quarters.

RUPERT — Mrs. Rose Lindover, safety chairman for the Minidoka County Extension Homemakers Council announced a program on drugs will be given at 8 p.m. March 31 at the courthouse. The public is invited.

Theo Johnson, Minidoka

County Sheriff, will present a film and discussion on drugs and drug abuse.

High school basketball players, who won the state A-2 division championship, will be guests of the chamber at the April meeting.

Welcome hint

Jerome asks loader bids

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Staff Writer

JEROME — City council members in Jerome issued a call for bids Tuesday night for a backhoe and loader, rock and gravel for the city and for gasoline and other petroleum products.

The city will buy 8,000 gallons of regular and premium gasoline and 2,000 gallons of diesel fuel. They will also purchase 60 gallons of motor oil.

Bids will be presented to the city clerk at the Jerome City Hall prior to the next regular council meeting April 6 when they will be opened at 8 p.m.

Council members also approved building permits for five new dwellings in Jerome. Lynn Bingham, building inspector, noted there are now nine new homes under construction at the present time. The council also set the beginning date for lawn sprinkling for April 10. The season will run through October with sprinkler rates in effect.

In previous years the starting date has been April 1 but S.M. Weeks, council member, told the council in the past people begin using sprinklers before their meters are read for March and complain about high rates.

Weeks also said Duane Hurlf has been hired on a 90-day trial basis to serve in the water department. He replaces Richard Payton who resigned.

A contract for $1,495 was awarded Blamires Co., Jerome, for blasting along the Kenney Canal running north and south on Sixth Street between Adams and Buchanan Streets to deepen the canal and provide better flow of irrigation water. The project is part of a flood control program to prevent water

Gooding chamber seeks 5

GOODING — Julius Schmitt was appointed to head a nominating committee to select five outstanding young men in the community when the Gooding Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday afternoon at the Lincoln Inn.

Severt Swenson, president, reported he had received a letter from Jack Linkletter saying he or his father, Art Linkletter, will speak at the chamber banquet this spring. Date for the event has not been set.

Chamber members voted to request the city council to declare empty buildings on the north end of Main Street a nuisance and get the owners to tear them down. It also was suggested that owners of stores operating in the area be urged to improve the fronts of the buildings.

Chamber members expressed their support of the Jaycees Distinguished Service banquet, scheduled for April 9 in the Odd Fellows Hall with Gov. Cecil Andrus as speaker.

High school basketball players, who won the state A-2 division championship, will be guests of the chamber at the April meeting.

damage during heavy runoff and spring rainfall.

A rough draft by Ray Mann for a sub-division in the northeast part of town was accepted by the council. The sub-division covers a 10 acre addition. Council members advised the developer he must meet all city ordinance requirements on the buildings.

Marshall Eberhardt said more complaints have been received on garbage service.

The Elden Corp. which handles the trash haul has cut down its staff to one man per truck and cans over 30 gallons cannot be picked up and emptied, he said.

It was decided Mel Morris and Eberhardt will draw up regulations for size, weight and type of trash containers to be used in the city. These requirements will be added to the present garbage ordinance.

Map Wilson, Jerome County Highway District, requested the city limits on the northwest of town be changed so the county can oil 247 feet of roadway from West First Street and Eighth Street North. The council referred the matter to the city attorney for a recommendation.

In previous years the starting date has been April 1 but S.M. Weeks, council member, told the council in the past people begin using sprinklers before their meters are read for March and complain about high rates.

Sniffing lands 3 in jail

TWIN FALLS — Three Twin Falls residents were arrested Tuesday afternoon and charged in connection with sniffing snuff of the community's ordinance restricting sniffing of harmful vapors.

Capt. Tim Qualls of the Twin Falls Police Department said a 16-year-old youth has been charged with sniffing glue. Others arrested were William Vernon Adams, 20, who has been charged with inhaling glue fumes and with causing and encouraging a juvenile to come within the purview of the county ordinance, and George C. Sparrow, 19, charged with causing and encouraging a juvenile to come within the purview of the ordinance.

Captain Qualls said police were acting on a search warrant when the arrests were made at a Twin Falls residence. The three remained in custody this morning at the Twin Falls City jail. The two adults were scheduled for arraignment today in magistrate court.

Chamber members voted to request the city council to declare empty buildings on the north end of Main Street a nuisance and get the owners to tear them down. It also was suggested that owners of stores operating in the area be urged to improve the fronts of the buildings.

Chamber members expressed their support of the Jaycees Distinguished Service banquet, scheduled for April 9 in the Odd Fellows Hall with Gov. Cecil Andrus as speaker.

Irish union IRA objective

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — In Vietnam they are the Viet Cong. On Israel's frontiers they may be the Al-Fatah. In Belfast the guerrillas wear white shirts and neckties and are called the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

The IRA's aim is to unite the six counties of British Northern Ireland, mostly Protestant, with the 26 counties of the Irish Republic, dominantly Roman Catholic, to the south.

Their earmark and their tradition is the gun and the homemade bomb. That the tradition lives and the earmark appears is what gives the quality of life in Belfast the element of terror.

Why is Scotland Yard, police special branch and submachine gun-carrying policemen guarding Northern Irish Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark, his cabinet, visiting British Home Secretary Reginald Maudling, the gasworks, the waterworks, the major branches of the Northern Bank, the C&A Department Store? The answer is the IRA.

The 8,200-man British army force came to Northern Ireland two years ago principally to keep battling Protestants and Catholics apart. It stays principally to thwart the IRA. For the IRA, it is like old times.

For four years, until the Irish Republic won independence from Britain in 1922, Michael Collins, IRA fielded 2,000 men streets, the IRA held a convention in Dublin. A majority voted in favor of having parliamentary members take their seats and campaign within the establishment for a united Ireland. A minority shouted "never" and walked out, calling themselves the "provisionals" and vowing violence.

The IRA dispenses its brand of justice through what it calls military tribunals. The automatic sentence for an informer or for a member who hands his weapon to the enemy: Death: a bullet through the mouth. Pistol whipping and tar-and-feathering is wages of such sins as burglary, drug peddling or talking too freely while drinking too much in a pub (a major IRA ailment, according to its members).

The IRA has a special basic training, weapons instruction and military tactics schools—the British army. Young men will be dispatched to join the British army and desert when they have mastered the arts of war. The British pullout from the southern counties in 1922, and the French withdrawal from hundreds of thousands).

Two years ago, as a Catholic drive for equal rights led to violence in Northern Ireland's
